

Dear body of elders,

This letter is to inform you that I, [Fugue], and my wife, [Mrs. Fugue], are no longer Jehovah's Witnesses. We came to this decision jointly after spending nearly a year researching the true nature of the religion. We have spent much time and effort looking into various sources of information, and the facts that we found (and confirmed) were eye-opening, and quite disturbing.

Contrary to the Watchtower's claims that those who leave the religion are evil and want nothing more than to drag others out with them, we are NOT interested in attempting to subvert the faith of any Witness. We respect everyone's freedom to believe what they want to believe. For this reason, we are not even disclosing the facts we found to you, the elders, in this letter. Doing so could be misconstrued as an attempt by us to convince you that your religion is wrong. We personally decided it was wrong FOR US.

We greatly regret that the Watchtower forces its members to view those of us who leave as antagonistic enemies. We are not vile, evil people as the governing body would have you believe. We are the same truth-loving, genuine, honest people we were before. The only difference is that we decided that we could no longer go along with this religion.

Please accept this letter as our official disassociation from the _____ Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, as well as from the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society and any other legal organization of which we are listed as members.

This decision is final and non-negotiable. We are not interested in discussing it with anyone. Please respect our right to privacy and refrain from contacting us to confirm that we wrote this letter. Our signatures below confirm our decision. We did not take this decision lightly, and we are very firm in our conviction that this is the right thing for us to do. Please respect our right to decide.

Please do not put us on your list of people to call on annually, or at any other interval. If we ever decide to come back to the religion, we will contact you. We do not wish to be contacted by anyone on behalf of Jehovah's Witnesses or the Watchtower Society at any point in the future, until further notice.

Regards,

Mr. Fugue Mrs. Fugue
